

You're A What?

From Echo Fred

*Alright children, it's your Uncle Billy here,
Are you ready, breathe in slowly,
In through the nostrils, hold it, hold it,
And now release it gradually,
Out the right end if you please.*

Stamp, stamp, like a dinosaur.
You're a what?
I'm a dinosaur.
Stamping around all over the place,
Stamping around with a smile on my face,
Stamping around all over the place,
I'm a dinosaur, I'm a dinosaur.

Jump, jump like a kangaroo.
You're a what?
I'm a kangaroo.
Jumping around all over the place...
I'm a kangaroo, I'm a kangaroo.

Waddle, waddle, like a penguin.
You're a what?
I'm a penguin.
Waddling around all over the place...
I'm a penguin now, I'm a penguin now.

Plod, plod, like an elephant.
You're a what?
I'm an elephant.
Plodding around all over the place...
I'm an elephant, I'm an elephant.

Creep, creep, like a little mouse.
You're a what?
I'm a little mouse.
Creeping around all over the place...
I'm a little mouse, I'm a little mouse.

I say, what are you doing over there? Oh, can't you see what that child is doing, he's stamping away, he's stamping. Look at that little fellow over there, he's jumping. Oh and look over there. There's a wee chap waddling. And who's that plodding out the door? I say, everybody get creeping, creep around the room.

By Wendy Jensen