

Caribbean Sea

From Wriggle and Jiggle

At the bottom of the sea is an octopus,
And he wriggles his arms and he wriggles his legs,
At the bottom of the sea is an octopus,
Swimming, swimming free.

The waves go up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down.

At the bottom of the sea is a dolphin,
And he dives down deep,
And he dives down deep,
At the bottom of the sea is a dolphin,
Swimming, swimming free.

The waves go up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down.

At the bottom of the sea is a sting ray
And he cruises slowly and quietly,
At the bottom of the sea is a sting ray,
Cruising quietly.

The waves go up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down,
And up and down.
