

Friends

From You've Got To Clap

A clown went walking on a sunny day,
Looking for a friend who wanted to play.
He looked both ways and he turned around
And right beside him a friend he found.

They swung their arms and they shook their heads,
They jumped up high till their faces turned red.
They danced and they danced and they danced all day,
They waved goodbye and they walked away.

A bunny went hopping on a sunny day,
Looking for a friend who wanted to play.
She looked both ways and she turned around
And right beside her a friend she found.

They swung their arms and they shook their heads,
They jumped up high till their faces turned red.
They danced and they danced and they danced all day,
They waved goodbye and they hopped away.

A dragon went flying on a sunny day,
Looking for a friend who wanted to play.
He looked both ways and he turned around
And right beside him a friend he found.

They swung their arms and they shook their heads,
They jumped up high till their faces turned red.
They danced and they danced and they danced all day,
They waved goodbye and they flew away.
